5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

All elements of Bn. in static direct fire defensive positions during the period.

During the night considerable enemy patrol activity vic. Ingolsheim (148415). A Co. reported hearing vehicles moving in that vicinity.

At 1415 hrs. enemy patrols reported at 198375). The 1st. Plt. of C Co. alerted and went into position to meet this threat but was unable to observe any of the enemy.

A report of dug in enemy tanks at 116108 came in at 1415 hrs. Rcn. was made for positions near that vic. However, nothing was seen.

Rcn. Co., 1st. Plt., doing aggressive patrol work in the vic. of Bischwiller in support of the 3rd. Plt. of Co. B which is in that vicinity to meet any threat of enemy armor in that sector.

The fact that two Plts. of Co. C are still attached to the 645 T.D.Bn. greatly limits the working efficiency and capabilities of Bn. in this strategic situation.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

At approximately 0800hrs. 12 tanks from the 21st. Pa. Div. attacked forward positions of the 3rd. Bn. 313th. Inf. Tanks were preceded by infantry which surrounded one gun of 1st Plt. of Co. C which later broke out and rejoined Plt. While firing on two enemy tanks two destroyers of Co. C were knocked out and burned; Fire came from over-watching enemy tanks on the flank. Three enemy tanks type not definite, were destroyed by T.D., A.T., and Arty. fire. The attack was repulsed and the enemy began to build up his infantry strength and fire from turret down positions on any likely target. There was no enemy artillery fire in this sector.

Approximately 19 tanks were observed in this sector. Co. A fired, range 3,000 yds., on enemy half tracks towing A.T. guns, results were unobserved. Co. A knocked out one half track at R.R. crossing 160403 and fired on other vehicles and troops in same area at various times during the day.

Co. B shifted guns to meet enemy threat. 1st. Plt of Co. B, with 314th. Inf. in Drusenheim, destroyed one tank and lost one M-10 by artillery fire.

Rcn. Co. Plts. aided various Co's and Plts. on route Rcn.

During the hours of this report all elements of this Bn. meeting fairly stiff resistance from elements of the 21st. Pz. Div.

Gun companies continuing their ground Rcn. for the purpose of any improvement they might make in their positions.

B Co. contacted elements of the 827th. T.D.Bn. and these people have put some of their M-18's into position in B Co's. sector.

During the night 2nd. Plt. of Rcn. Co. waited for and led elements of the 827 T.D.Bn. into positions previously reconnoitered by the 2nd. Plt. Lead elements of this new T. D. Bn. did not arrive until 0400 hrs.

During the day Co. A, firing from dug in positions, destroyed one enemy half-track at 149421 and a M.G. nest at 170388. The Co. also killed a numerous number of enemy personnel in these affrays.

B Co. 2nd. Plt. fired on churchsteeple at Stundwiller 155388. Results of fire brought at least 12 "Jerries" running from the church to give themselves up.

1st Plt B Co knocked out a m. G. nest at Stundwiller (155388)

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

Early in the day an enemy tank offensive supported by infantry started in the B Co. sector. During the day approximately 20 enemy tanks were identified. The enemy infantry supporting the tank attack infiltrated our lines and threw hand grenades into one of the 1st. Plt. of B Co.'s. M-10's another of this Plt.'s. M-10's had to be abandoned and later was destroyed by artillery. As the battle grew more intense the town of Hatten (176377) was surrounded by the enemy and one of the two remaining guns of the 1st. Plt. B Co. which had positions in this town was captured crew and all by the enemy. Later, led by Lt. Kolhos, of B Co., our infantry chased the enemy away from the gun and it was recovered intact. The other gun from this Plt. left its position in the town of Hatten and went forward to meet an advancing enemy tank and successfully knocked out the tank plus an armored car at 198325 before being accidentally destroyed by our own artillery fire.

C Co. 1st. Plt., aiding in the offensive with its two remaining guns knocked out one enemy tank vic 185315 and also lost a gun vic. 188327.

A Co. 1st. Plt., under very heavy artillery and mortar fire during the day. The Co. reported knocking out two enemy staff cars, one at 149442 and one at 184405. They also fired 10rds. H.E. into the town of Ingolsheim (149416)

Ren. Co. 2nd. Plt., maintaining O.P.'S. in Rittershoffen (155338) and in Oberbetschdorf (125330).

6. NOTEWORTHY COMBAT LESSONS AND EXPERIENCES:

SUMMARY

A/G 1100hrs. V. O. Gen. Wahl, the 827 T.D.Bn. was attached to the 813 T.D.Bn.

In the tank attack in the B Co. sector flame throwers were reported being used by the enemy. In the day's operations B Co. suffered excessive personnel losses including 1st. Plt. leader, Lt. Mc Gee who was wounded ~~in~~ accidentally in the face by our own infantry M.G. fire.

Operations greatly affected because of the attachment of two plts. C Co. to the 845th. T.D.Bn.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

Early in the period the enemy again attacked with tanks and infantry in the B Co. sector vic Hatten 176337. It was estimated that the attack was on a larger scale than that of yesterday. Two guns of the 2nd. Plt. of B Co. plus one gun of the 1st. Plt. of C Co. in direct fire positions in that sector but did no firing. However, elements of the 827 T.D.Bn. attached to this Bn. saw considerable action in same sector.

A Co. Plts. reported heavy artillery and mortar fire with the enemy doing considerable patrolling. The 1st. Plt. of the Co. fired 5 harrassing rds. of H.E. into the town of Ingelsheim (180417)

Rcn. Co. 1st. Plt. doing route Rcn. work in support of B Co. also maintaining G. F.'s. in that sector.

Considerable enemy air activity over the B Co. sector during the period. The towns of Rittershoffen (155338) and Hatten (176337) were bombed.

At the close of the period 12 enemy tanks on the road running North East from Hatten (183337) These tanks were taken under fire by artillery; No reports of fire.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

The enemy continued the attack in the B Co. sector. Early in the period enemy infantry was infiltrating the town of Rittershoffen 158338 and later it was estimated a total of six enemy tanks were in the town. From this total it was reported that the 827 T.D.Bn. destroyed four. The towns of Rittershoffen and Hatten 176337 were both subject to very heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire and the situation at the close of the period was very much unsettled.

No enemy counter-attacks in other sectors of the Bn. but all forward elements reported very heavy mortar and artillery fire in their areas.

Ren. Co., 1st. and 2nd. Plts., maintaining a 24 hr. motorized road patrol in the B Co. sector on road running south east from 13532 6 to 180300.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

The general situation in the B Co. sector vic. Hatten remained much the same and very unsettled throughout the period with heavy fighting still going on in Rittershoffen 176337 and Hatten 155388. The enemy continued to use tanks in support of his infantry and a late report had three at 165330.

Early in the period A Co., 3rd. Plt., reported hearing vehicles moving to their front but because of the poor visibility were unable to see anything. Later reports stated that the vehicles were moving on main road running south east from Wissenbourg 167475 to Oberseebach 188420.

Rcn. Co., 1st. and 2nd. Plts., still maintaining motorized road patrol of wooded area south of Hatten.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

The entire situation remained very much the same throughout the the Bn. sector during the period. An enemy counter-attack near Rittershoffen was repulsed and later our infantry itself attacked and reported making a slight gain.

In the Drusenheim sector (155180), 6 enemy tanks were reported at Susenheim (180220). The 3rd. Plt. of B Co. working in that area, moved forward to meet the threat but at the close of the period had reported no activity.

Rcn. Co., 1st. and 2nd Plt., still maintaining road patrol in woods south of Hatten(178337)

A/O 1200hrs. 2nd and 3rd. Plts of Co. C relieved of attachment to the 645th. T.D.Bn. reverted to Bn. control and reattached to the 79th. Inf. Div.

6. NOTEWORTHY COMBAT LESSONS AND EXPERIENCES:

1. We are experimenting with the useage of white paint on the M-10s. More or less of an irregular splshing of powdered white paint and water has proved a very effective camouflage. The blend with the snow and ground features is quite good.

2. Also further experiments are being conducted with wide strips of burlap and fish nets colored mottled white and black. It is believed this will be effective too.

3. We find that an M-10, setting for several days in one spot on the line- may develop 'frozen tracks'. It's believed adviseable (when possible) to move the M-10 even a few feet to be sure the tracks won't freeze(to the ground - or internally)

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

No change in the general situation during the period. However, it is believed that the enemy is withdrawing to the east from the towns of Rittershoffen and Hatten.

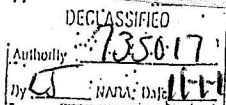

All enemy activity in the A Co. sector was confined to enemy patrolling with only an occasional "arty" shell falling in the Plt. areas.

During the period B Co., 2nd. Plt., fired on and destroyed one half-track at 180348. A Co. fired on enemy personnel, with effective results, at 142325 and 151426, also a staff car at 168407.

Rcn. Co., 1st. and 2nd. Plts., patrolling wooded area south of Hatten.

Lt. Hull, C.O. Co. B, slightly wounded and evacuated during the day.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

Early in the period the enemy launched a three prong counter-attack on the town of HATTEN which was repulsed with no loss of ground.

Very little activity in the A Co. sector. The Co. fired on enemy personnel at 148442, 150445, and 145440. At 1800hrs. the two M-10's that A Co. had in reserve were enroute to the town of HATTEN to go into position there.

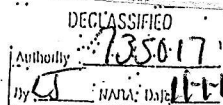

B Co., 3rd. Plt., in the Drusenheim sector (156182) engaged 3 enemy tanks early in the period, which were just a little north of town, disabling one for sure with no loss to themselves.

C Co. with the 2nd. and 3rd. Plts. at 2100hrs. moved to the vicinity of Soufflenheim 165255 to meet an expected enemy armored threat in that sector. At 1135 hrs one Plt. of A Co. of the 827 T.D. Bn. was attached to C Co. for reinforcement purposes in their sector.

Rcn. Co., 1st. and 2nd. Plts., still maintaining road patrol in wooded area south of HATTEN.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

Bn. with its Inf. units made successful withdrawal under "Task Force Wahl". However, 4 destroyers either skidded off the road into deep ditches or became hopelessly mired in the mud. As the withdrawal had to be completed last nite and the T-2's were unable to extricate the M-10's, 4 were destroyed (by official orders) at the following coord. 122393, 119437, 102420, and 108420.

Bn also coordinated with C.C.A. of the 14th. Armored Div. (48th Tank Bn.) in rear guard action and covering force. Weather and driving conditions were extremely hazardous during entire withdrawal.

The above Plt. positions were reconitered by Co. commanders and will be occupied by 2000hrs. this date.

6. NOTEWORTHY COMBAT LESSONS AND EXPERIENCES:

Four M-10s were destroyed by placing incendiary grenades near the gas tank. This is an effective method for complete destruction.

2. On the 22nd., one M-10 immobilized by enemy tank fire; Small arms fire, and burning buildings made it impossible to retrieve. At 1600hrs. on the 23rd. (M-10 being manned) was burned up by enemy tank fire. Tank fire during a blinding snow storm, did not reveal its position to us.

3. Bn. continues in its support role on the 4 Regt. fronts.

4. A Co. of the 827 T.D.Bn. relieved of its attachment to 314th. and returned to its parent unit.

5. A Co. of the 781st. Tk. Bn., 3 Med. Tks. 75mm gun, attach'd to this Bn. and in position 222 Regt. sector.

6. NOTEWORTHY COMBAT LESSONS AND EXPERIENCES:

1. In present defensive positions it is of the utmost importance that T.D.'s. and Tk.'s. are concealed or covered behind buildings, walls, barns, etc. A hole to allow vision and firing can readily be affected. Similiar alternate positions must be selected because enemy patrols in due time will spot initial positions. One man of each crew must have an O.P., vic. gun, and watching the enemy. A telephone from the gun to the intercom system is suggested.

2. Know Your Enemy:

An enemy tank hidden among the buildings watched our immobilized T.D. all day. The German Gunner patiently waited until a convenient heavysnow flurry came. He shot burned up the M-10 and it was impossible to learn the enemy's whereabouts.

5. Know Your Enemy:- On the 22nd, an M-10 was knocked out (but not burned) on North side of HAGUENAU. All attempts to retrieve it during the night were frustrated by s/A fire and burning buildings. An enemy tank (and very patient gunner) apparently stood by and waited in daylight for our retriever to return. No retriever operation was planned until nightfall, so the gunner of the German tank (with one shot well zeroed) took advantage of a sudden snow flurry in the afternoon, fired at, and burned the TD. Due to the heavy snow flurry, no one in the sector saw or located the German tank. Said tank was in hiding all day and never was picked up and engaged. It is still on the other side now!!

6. Under the present conditions, TDs will make every effort to select positions behind buildings, barns, walls and so on. One man from each crew will then select a vantage point in a room or building and will keep a constant watch on the enemy lines. He is actually to be the 'seeing eye' for the entire crew - who will be on the TD or standing by.

A Co.- 4 guns vic. Haguenau, 2 guns vic 207234, 2 guns vic. Schweighausen, 999245, 001244, and one gun 003195.

Rcn. Co.- 2 M-8s at 959267. These two guns (light scout cars) stayed in one place throughout entire action during past 24hrs., firing up a complete basic load of ammo. (37mm., 50 and 30 cal) Many enemy casualties were affected.

2 M-10s were knocked out at 062227. These guns engaged enemy infantry actively with H.E. ammo for 1 and 1/2 hrs. at the beginning of the attack at 0200hrs. They were forced to withdraw with the 242 Inf. as German envelopment was imminent. In pulling back from these positions, German gunners, who had them well spotted, fired and burned up the M-10s as they wallowed in the mud.

Two Sherman tanks of A Co. of the 781st. Tk Bn. were knocked out in Schweighausen. This Co. has one operational tank remaining.

Coordinated shifts of our thin reserve were affected during the day by Bishop 6 and Fighter 6.

There were enemy tanks along the front but none could be spotted and engaged by our T.Ds.

The line was generally restored by 1800hrs with the exception of enemy in Schweighausen and the woods straight west.

5. OPERATIONS FOR PERIOD: (Brief summary including mention of excessive personnel losses which affect efficiency)

No change in the general situation during the period. This Bn. continued in its general support role of the Div. in its sector.

A Co. fired on an enemy patrol at 030246 destroying three trucks, killing several personnel, and disbursing the remainder.

B Co. also fired on one enemy target which was an enemy motor patrol vic. 065235 and 072235; Results of fire undetermined.

C Co. reported no activity in its sector.

Rcn Co., 2nd Plt., spearheading an aggressive infantry patrol ran into the enemy vic. Neubourg, 958267, who were trying to occupy the town. By the use of its roving fire power the Plt. was able to break up and disperse the enemy's attack. In the fire fight numerous enemy were killed and nine were taken prisoner by the Plt.

FIGHTER OPERATIONS MEMORANDUM

26 January 1945.

1. Disposition of 813th T.D. Bn.:

	Bn CP	904175
	Co. CPs	No change
A Co.	4 guns	HAGUENAU
	2 guns	207234
	2 guns	999245, 001244
	1 gun	003195

B Co. 1 gun 055227

C Co.	4 guns	060200
	2 guns	087194
	2 guns	075214

These positions subject to change the night of 25 Jan.

2. "This is the Army":- This battalion recently received seven (7) M-18s (light 18-ton TDs with 76mm gun, from the 827th TD Bn). Probably in the states, drivers and gunners on this vehicle receive a month or so of training, maneuvers, maintenance instruction and so on. Cos "A", "B" and "C" rounded up M-10 crews whose fire power had been lost in action, placed them on the new guns, a few hours of driving and gunnery, and off to the front!!

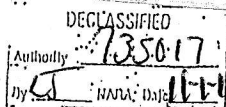

3. The gun and vehicle are quite different; i.e.:

M-10	Diesel motor
M-18	Gasoline
M-10	Turret is manually operated
M-18	Turret is power driven
M-10	3-inch shell
M-18	76mm weapon and different sight and breech
M-10	Crew can sleep in it (with reasonable comfort)
M-18	Crew can sleep in it (comparable to a sardine can)
M-10	Thick-skinned and can withstand direct arty hit
M-18	Thin-skinned and we'll hope for the best!
M-10	Can maneuver fairly well in ice and snow
M-18	Very difficult to handle on ice and snow - skids a lot
M-10	Spare parts are available in odd amounts
M-18	Spare parts and replacements - very critical

4. The M-18 cannot take the abuse or punishment the M-10 can; therefore they will not be able to stay out under arty fire very long; must keep moving, get under cover -- or get out!

5. The 813th S-3 section is compiling a complete study of combat experiences, lessons learned, short cuts and operations for more efficient control. We cordially invite your criticisms, constructive and otherwise, either by phone (FIGHTER through BISHOP) or in writing. This will enable us to assure an even better TD disposition and operation within the Division sector.

6. Two (2) M-10s were knocked out by direct tank fire in the 242 sector early in the attack. Lt Richards, commanding "B" Co. platoon, directed his guns to fire on a factory across the river, containing at least 200 to 250 of the enemy. The M-10s would pull forward from their cover position, fire at the infantry, and pull back under protection of a fantry Captain to order a slight withdrawal. As the infantry and M-10s moved back, the German tank gunners tracked our lumbering guns through the mud. The TDs were knocked out and burned by enemy tank fire.

7. Two (2) Sherman tanks of "A" Co., 781st Tk Bn (1 gun left in operation) were destroyed in the enemy engagement in SCHWEIGHAUSEN.

SECRET

FIGHTER OPERATIONS MEMORANDUM

27 January 1945.

1. Battalion dispositions no change.

2. Of Interest To All - Know Your Supporting Weapons.

M-18 TANK DESTROYER

(1) ARMAMENT - 76mm gun, 50 cal. AA MG. This gun has approximately the same armor-piercing capabilities as the 3" gun which gives the same amount of fire power.

(2) MOTOR CARRIAGE - High power, light construction.

a. This tank destroyer is powered by a 500hp airplane engine which enables it to attain 65 mph in suitable terrain.

b. This destroyer has a torsion bar suspension system and drive sprockets of light construction subject to break upon contact with the lightest object.

c. Its steel tracks cause it to slide on icy roads more than other type vehicles.

d. Because of its light weight (20-tons) and great power it is highly maneuverable in suitable terrain (other than ice and mud).

(3) ARMOR - The armor of an M-18 is quite light, varying from 10 to 20 mm. The armor plate thickness is about the same as the light armored car, M-8, used by Cav and Rcn units, which makes it vulnerable to all fires other than small arms.

(4) CAPABILITIES -

a. The M-18 can move from one position to another very rapidly.

b. It can destroy enemy armor: Mk IV at 1200-1500 yds; Mk V at 400-700 yds (except frontally); Mk VI at 400-700 yds (except frontally).

c. The M-18 can provide direct fire support in the assault gun role but is not suited for such because of its light armor. The M-10 is more suited to this role.

(5) LIMITATIONS -

a. Because of its light armor this destroyer must maneuver to get out from under enemy arty and mortar fire. It cannot sit in position under such fire and take the beating the M-10 will take ~~without employment~~.

b. Because of its light construction, it is easily damaged by trees, buildings and such obstacles.

c. Its employment is more difficult as it must be employed by movement from cover positions to fire positions. It cannot live and sit in front line positions under enemy fire.

3. The 2 M-10s in SCHWEIGHAUSEN will eventually move over to the new Div sector. A re-adjustment will be made of TD dispositions within the new boundaries. The present deleted strength of M-10s and M-18s will necessitate careful study to get the necessary fire power over front lines. The policy of keeping under cover until a target is seen, and then moving out to meet the threat, will be in effect.

4. The 807th T.D. Bn. will be supporting the 101st Airborne Div on our left with 36 Towed 3" guns. The 636th T.D. Bn. (SP) remains on our right flank.
